Becks bringing Bear & Son back to life

Main Street restoration headed to Magnolia Network

BY BOB DEMAREE

A rare Second Empire Style building with mansard roof in downtown Madison is being rejuvenated, thanks to the restoration efforts of Brantley and Katie Beck of Louisville.

The building, at 206-208 East Main Street, dates back to them 1800s, but it was best known in the 20th century as home to Oscar C. Bear and Son Jewelers that was in business from 1907 to 1992.

"We love this community, and we wanted to be a part of what was happening here," said Katie, a 2013 graduate of Madison Consolidated High School who grew up in Deputy as Katlin Brown before marrying Brantley Beck seven years ago.

"We had been looking for a place downtown for about a year before we found this one," said Katie. "Nothing clicked or felt right" until they visited that one, and purchased it in July of 2022 from Jeff Burleson.

"We made plans from July to December, made architectural plans, applied for grants and made a game plan with our contractor, and then started construction in January 2023."

The project is anticipated to be completed by late spring next year after the order of construction was

"The whole building is not done but we finished the largest apartment in the building and the exterior for the show reveal. They had us get to a point that it was TV ready," she said.

So far, a two-story apartment on the 208 East Main Street side is completed with work in progress on two one-bedroom apartments at 206 East Main Street, and the first floor retail space still to be completed.

She said episodes of "In with the Old" will be available on the Magnolia Network beginning Dec. 29, and can be found streaming on Discovery Plus and HBO Max at any time after that.

County files motion to intervene in jail water suit

Disruption of suit would cause 'substantial financial damages ... potential humanitarian crisis'

BY BOB DEMAREE

With permanent occupancy now given to the county for the new Jefferson County Sheriff's Office and Criminal Justice Center, the county on Friday filed a motion to intervene in support of the city of Madison's defense in the Dupont Water Company lawsuit filed over which utility should provide water service to the new 300-bed jail.

On Thursday, the County Commissioners moved their regular meeting to the new jail and gave a tour to some of those who attended. "We've waited several years for this," said Commissioner Bobby Little as he held up the certificate of occupancy for the building that has now been granted to the county. "We officially have control of the building now. What's been done the last couple of weeks in phenomenal" is getting the new jail completed.

A community open house will be Saturday, Jan. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in which lunch and a tour will be provided. "We'll show everybody the wonderful new technologically-advanced building," said Little.

Although the lawsuit over the water service is still pending, the county is continuing to work towards moving from the downtown jail next to the Jefferson County Courthouse to the new location at 1150 JA Berry Lane.

"We have got a new building to get in use," said Little, of the $45 million facility, that was constructed after state inspectors in 2017 cited the county for conditions at Jefferson County's over-crowded downtown jail, requiring the Commissioners to find and fund a solution.

Dupont Water Company's lawsuit claims it has exclusive right to provide water services to the new jail based on the location of the jail in its service area.

However, the motion to intervene filed by county attorney Patrick Magrath, stated that "Jefferson County had an extraordinary need to ensure water service infrastructure was in place for routine water services and fire protection" for the new jail and "having never received substantive response from Dupont (the county) accepted Madison's offer to provide water service and necessary infrastructure."

The motion to intervene states the jail construction project is complete, that the Sheriff's Department has already relocated to the new jail facility and that inmates will be transferred there in the near future. It also states that any interruption of water services "would result in substantial

County Commissioners sign off on battery farm

BY BOB DEMAREE

The final local hurdle in approval for a battery storage facility to locate in Jefferson County was achieved Thursday with unanimous approval for the development by the County Commissioners.

Approval had previously been given by the County Council on a 6-1 vote during its Dec. 12 meeting. On Thursday, the Commissioners approved three documents with Aypa Power, a Blackstone portfolio company that develops, owns, and operates utility-scale energy storage and hybrid renewable energy projects.

They final negotiations included:

• A decommissioning plan for restoring property back to agricultural suitability if and when the battery storage facility ceases to operate.

•A road use agreement that outlines provisions on the condition of the road in the vicinity of the facility and its condition through the process of construction of the battery storage facility.

• A more concrete economic development agreement. Tony Steinhardt, the city of Madison's economic development director, said in the last month there have "a number of provisions that got better for the county" in the economic development agreement. He said a minimum 10-year abatement payment of $375,000 was established rather than what was previously proposed as 2.5% of the investment.

With the investment estimated at $150 million, that would be $3,750,000 spread out over 10 years for an annual pilot payment of $375,000 per year. However, with establishment of the minimum amount, the county is now assured of at least $375,000 per year coming from the battery storage facility. Additionally, Steinhardt said "there was guarantor language put in place as well."

Steinhardt added that Aypa Power is also paying the county's bills from the financial consultant and the county attorney for their work on the economic development agreement.

Commissioner Bobby Little wanted assurance that the road use agreement covers any damages from construction of the battery storage facility "because I know there's going to be heavy equipment running up and down our freshly blacktopped Dawson Smith stretch there."

With the battery storage facility due to be located on 10 acres at the southwest intersection of Paper Mill Road and Dawson Smith Road, county highway superintendent Bobby Phillips noted that Dawson Smith Road was newly paved just eight months ago.

Steinhardt said the road will be inspected 30 days prior to construction, and if there are damages, Aypa Power will be responsible for putting the road back to the condition that it had been. "They will put it back to the condition they at least found it," he said.

Steinhardt said Aypa Power must provide the county with two security bonds for the road repairs that will be enforced for two years after completion of construction of the battery storage facility while also provide oversight authority on the road conditions to Phillips in his role as county highway superintendent.

Trimble VFDs approach fiscal court with funding options

BY CINDY WARRICK
PAXTON MEDIA GROUP

Trimble Fiscal Court heard proposals from the county's two volunteer fire departments on funding strategies to provide the resources they need to provide services.

Bedford Fire Department, which is currently a volunteer subscription-based service, presented a proposal asking to create a special taxing district for its service area that would fund firefighting through property taxes.

Fire protection for City of Bedford residents is currently covered by funding from the Bedford City Commission while county residents are asked to voluntary pay a $50 per property or $100 per business subscription for that service.

According to Bedford Fire Chief Will McCoy, subscriptions are being paid by only around 13% of the coverage area and costs to homeowners who choose not to subscribe to fire services but then experience a fire can run from $13,000 to $15,000.

With the implementation of a taxing district, every residence and business within the Bedford fire district would be taxed based on their property valuation. The proposal is for a .06 per $100 valuation fire protection tax which for a property valued at $150,000 would result in an additional $90 in taxes for fire protection coverage.

"Since many homes in the county are unable to get or afford fire insurance, the fire tax district-wide would provide the needed protection." McCoy said.

The cash influx would help Bedford Fire Department, to have sufficient operating capital, pay for equipment maintenance and upgrades and cover the costs of firefighter training. In addition to being available for firefighting, each of the Bedford's 27 volunteer firefighters spends about 32 hours per week on rigorous training, fire and emergency runs, as well as 16 hours of fundraising to be able to provide a quality service to residents.

"It hard to believe that 28 people spend 16 plus hours per week to raise funds to protect our residents," Magistrate Melissa Cornish remarked.

Milton Fire Department Chief Justin McQueary made a presentation to the court on its fire subscription situation. He said currently only about 16% of the department's residents pay their fire subscriptions.

The proposal sought by Milton would include adding a flat-rate fire subscription on property tax bills. If a resident wanted to opt out of the subscription, they would have to visit the fire department in person and fill out an opt out form and they would be responsible for any costs associated with fighting a fire on their property.

Even with the fire subscriptions, Milton Fire Department would still need financial assistance from Trimble Fiscal Court.

Fiscal court agreed to take both proposals under consideration. Magistrates suggested having town hall meetings to discuss the fire taxation/subscription proposals with constituents.

Commissioners adopt tighter road permitting after omitting farm vehicles

BY BOB DEMAREE

An ordinance establishing tighter permitting on operating overweight and oversized vehicles on county roads received final approval at Thursday's Jefferson County Commissioners meeting after the elimination of wording to ensure that the new standards do not apply to agricultural vehicles.

Commissioner David Bramer noted there had been language that stated agricultural vehicles would not be required to pay for permits, but he said it is actually that those with agricultural vehicles would not need a permit at all. "It's to make sure the farmers don't even have to apply for a permit," he said.

Commissioner Bobby Little also cited specific language included in the ordinance that states "oversize and overweight implements of agriculture shall not be required to obtain a permit."

The ordinance had been suggested by County Highway Superintendent Bobby Phillips as a means to deal with large semi tractor trucks that have exceed the capacity of county roads, causing damage to roadways, guardrails and structures. The Ordinance provides detailed guidelines and necessary permits according to State of Indiana overweight and oversize code standards.

The ordinance also allows the county highway superintendent to place signs on designated roads that limit operation of trucks or other commercial vehicles to 5 tons or 10,000 pounds.

In addition to the agricultural vehicles, the ordinance also does not apply to authorized emergency vehicles in the county such as fire trucks.

In other business, the commission:

• Approved several appointments beginning Jan. 1 — David Ferguson to the County Board of Zoning Appeals and Plan Commission for a four-year term, Mary Kay Butler and Dr. Scott Murphy to the Jefferson County Board of Health for a four-year team, Victoria Perry to Jefferson County Board of Tourism for a one-year term, John Schafer to the Alcohol Board for a one-year term, Nancy Sobek and Becky Law to the Property Tax Assessment Board of Appeals for a one-year term, Kevin Lichlyter to the County Park Board for a four-year term and Charles Gilles to the Cemetery Commission for a four-year term.

Appointed to one year terms on the Insurance Committee were Heather White, Bobby Phillips, Lindsey Wyne, Troy Hawkins, Kathy Sizemore, Judi Terpening and Kim Judge.

Patrick Magrath was reappointed as county attorney for one year. Brian Amick was appointed to a one-year term to the Southeastern Indiana Regional Plan Commission.

Commissioner appointments included Little to the Pauper Attorney Board, Ron Lee to the Southeastern Indiana Solid Waste District Board, and David Bramer to Our Southern Indiana Regional Development Authority advisory committee, Jefferson County Board of Tourism and the Plan Commission.

• Approved a request for Wessler Engineering for a limited use agreement to utilize the county's GIS information through WTH Technology Inc. Wessler, which is doing a stormwater management study for the town of Hanover, requested information on parcels, lot lines, addresses and town of Hanover boundaries for its work on the stormwater study.

• With a complaint registered about the poor condition of Alcorn Road, a gravel road in eastern Jefferson County near Switzerland County. County Highway Superintendent Bobby Phillips promised to investigate the issues on the road and work to resolve them.

UK architectural design students present 'Reimagine Milton' project

BY CINDY WARRICK
PAXTON MEDIA GROUP

A dozen senior architectural design students from the University of Kentucky on Wednesday, Dec. 13, presented their "Reimagine Milton" design projects to approximately 150 business and county government leaders, community leaders, state officials and representatives, and involved citizens with an interest in the project at a presentation held at Richwood on The River in Milton.

The LA 425 undergraduate students executing the project were Evan Baldridge, Emmanuella Braide, Karli Childers, Anna Del Rio, David Dronsella, Matthew Duvall, Taylor Lacy, JaKobi McPherson, Sam Pauly, Aileena Roberts, Chloe Scoggins, and Kendall Shockley. Senior Lecturer and Project Leader was Carolina Segura Bell.

The project began last summer with the students visiting the area and seeing the status of the areas in which they would concentrate their efforts. It was the semi-final senior project for the 12 students with their capstone project coming next semester.

The process began with an understanding of "a river way of living" as described by Harlan Hubbard in "Payne Hollow Journal." The students used the Ohio River Way's Community Visit Guide as their approach to develop an objective view of the community's assets and opportunities.

Historic board sends off Wilber, McCall as terms expire

BY MARK CAMPBELL

The city of Madison transitioned two of its longest tenured historic preservationists Dec. 18 when Josh Wilber and Owen McCall served out their final meetings as members of the Historic District Board of Review.

Wilber, the board's current chairman, and McCall, perhaps the most vocal proponent of restoration over replacement, have been on the board six years. Although they did not always vote together on every issue, both have served as staunch protectors of the city's historic district.

"I think the board needs to show their appreciation for Josh and Owen for six years each," said board member Ken McWilliams. "That's dedication and we all appreciate your leadership."

"On behalf of Mayor (Bob) Courtney, he does express his appreciation to both of you," said Nicole Schell, the city's director of planning and staff member to the board.

"It's been a pleasure and it's been a pleasure to serve with this great fellow here," Wilber said of McCall. "He's wonderful. He has always brought great insight to the meetings and always did his homework, did his research. He cares a lot about this community. I can't tell you how much I appreciate it."

The board approved three certificates of appropriateness in its final meeting of 2023, the one leading to the most concern a proposal by Brian Guetig to remove the existing enclosed back porch at 805 East Second Street and replace it with a larger 17-foot by 10-foot addition as well as construct an 18-foot by 18-foot open-sided carport on the north side of the property.

The concerns involved the design of the addition — Guetig could provide no architectural rendering of the proposed rebuild — and he materials proposed.

"I will tell you I am having trouble because not seeing your actual architectural drawings makes me really nervous, because we have been burned on that a few times that I have been on the board," Wilber said. "But because the rest of the board feels comfortable with it, I am not going to feel not comfortable with it. But I will tell you that you will absolutely need to come in and talk to the staff about the materials you are putting on so that they meet the guidelines."

On Dec. 19, Madison City Council approved two new appointments to the Historic District Board of Review to replace Wilber and McCall effective Jan. 1.

McCall's wife, Harriet "Happy" Smith, was appointed to the board to succeed McCall, who completed his two three-year terms, and McWilliams was re-appointment to a final three-year term. The city must still replace Wilber, who finished his two 3-year terms but was also elected as an at-large member of Madison City Council in November.

BECKS

The opportunity with the Magnolia Network became available when the project was discovered from posts on the Instagram page of Swell Stay LLC, the name of the Becks' company that owns the building.

"When I started showing it on social media, Brantley had asked me what we would want to come from it, and I grew up loving design, and HGTV as a little kid those were my favorite shows. I told Brantley If we could have a TV show to document all we are doing here, that would be a total dream come true. And I prayed about it for two weeks, then this producer messaged us on Instagram, and it was just the wildest thing. It was in a way an answer to prayer, a dream come true."

She said, "Getting the building and restoring it was a dream in itself but to share that through the Magnolia Network compounded even greater than we had hoped or imagined."

The restoration has received various types of funding including a $100,000 grant from the Historic Renovation Grant Program from the Indiana Office of Community and Rural Affairs, two $25,000 dilapidated structure PACE grants for the two addresses from the city of Madison and historic structure tax credits through the Department of Interior. Overall, it's nearly a $1 million project with private investment of $969,500.

Submitted

The Becks lead busy lives — Brantley as general manager of a Chick-Fil-A and Katie with her marketing firm, Beck and Call. And they have four children. In fact, Katie was pregnant with their fourth child, born in July, during much of the construction.

"While we were renovating, we were doing all this stuff, and raising four kids. It's crazy," she said.

But Katie said she and Brantley made it all work. "It's made us stronger as a unit because we're business partners and partners in life. The Lord has sustained us through it all. It's not always easy but we enjoy each other and we enjoy our family.

So, it doesn't matter what we're doing, it's just we do it together." And the children all come along — Georgia, 5; Duke, 3; Eliza, 2; and Mary Kate, 5 months.

Once the work is completed, the Becks will be landlords, and not occupy the building themselves. "Our job is to restore it and we're hoping someone else will come in and do the hard work of running a business," said Katie. "We're hoping to find someone who will want to bring a new experience to Madison" in the retail space.

"So, whether it be food, or experience, or retail, we're excited to partner with someone who would want to bring a business there. We'll lease out three apartments, and two store fronts. We're excited to find someone who might a good fit for that."

Submitted

They've worked to bring the exterior of the building back to what it was in the 1800s, relying on an old photo as insight. For most of the history of the building, it had two store fronts but in 1966, it was renovated to become only Oscar C. Bear Son. An advertisement by the jewelry store in The Madison Courier in July of 1966 stated, "We're remodeling. The carpenters are knocking a hole in the wall" with the entire space opening up after the closing of Peggy's Dress Shop.

"We had to reconstruct the entire front facade, both sides to get back to the shape it was, and recreate the form," said Katie.

It's not exactly the same in one respect — the stairs to the apartments previously weren't wide enough to accommodate modern appliances — so there was a slight modification with that.

Still, much of the interior is being restored to the scale of what it was in the 1800s. "Our understanding is that the upstairs had not been occupied since the early 1900s," she said, adding that 1910 is "the last time that we're understanding someone lived there as a residence as traditional shopkeeper living with family situation" above the business.

Because of that, she said the apartments had "no modern electricity and no plumbing. We had to put all new utilities in it for the first time with the exception of the main floor but we had to do those as well because they were not in good condition.

"Everything on the second and third floor was basically getting touched for the first time since it was constructed," she added. "No one came in and removed a wall, thankfully. That's what we're so thankful for" — that the upstairs was still "in its original structure. Usually people will come in and take out a wall or open things up, but no one had ever done that, so we had all original doors, original windows. We could work with what would have been there in the 1800s."

Brantley said restoring the building is "keeping the legacy alive" of what it has meant to Madison, and he's hopeful that their four children will someday look upon the building and "how it leaves a mark on the community. I am grateful for the city and all the sub-contractors and contractors, and our family" who have all been a part of the restoration. "It's neat to see it come together to make the project so successful."

Southwestern completes JCIT domination with 68-40 victory

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Southwestern left little doubt about who the best team in Jefferson County was, beating Madison by 20-plus points for the second time in a little over a month with a 68-40 victory in the championship game of the Jefferson County Invitational Tournament on Saturday night.

The Rebels, ranked fifth in Class 2A, had handed Madison a 25-point loss in the season-opening Turkey Shootout in late November and knew that the Cubs would be itching for some payback. But while Madison played better in the rematch, the final margin proved to be worse as Southwestern rolled to its second-straight title and third in the past four years.

Southwestern's players celebrate with the trophy after winning their second-straight Jefferson County Invitational Tournament crown.

Madison's Quincy Reynolds (left) drives on Southwestern's Jackson Taylor during the Jefferson County Invitational Tournament championship game on Saturday.

"We knew that we had a challenge in front of us," Southwestern coach Zac Nussbaum said. "I was really proud of our boys for coming out focused and just hungry for another championship."

Southwestern (10-0) had already posted two lopsided wins in the tournament, waxing Class A No. 8 Christian Academy of Indiana 72-40 and Carroll County 66-48 on Friday to sweep Pool B.

But Madison (3-5) had also posted a pair of wins, beating Shawe 72-49 and Trimble County 66-35 and came into the championship with that momentum.

That feeling didn't last very long, although Madison was able to hang around longer than in the first matchup. Southwestern scored the first eight points of the game and after the Cubs closed the gap to 12-9, ripped off a 13-0 run to take control.

For Madison coach Adam Stotts, the difference in the game came down to options. While the young Cubs are still trying to figure out their roles, especially with junior Mason Davis still out with a broken thumb, Southwestern has no shortage of players who can take you down.

"They're a hard team to scout because in my head, if we run our zone, like we did against Trimble, we knew we had Ethan Horn and (Ethan Keller) to stop. If we can stop them, we're fine," Stotts said. "But against Southwestern, if we stop (Jamison) Lewis, then you've got (Peyton) Cloud. If you stop him then you've got (Jackson) Taylor. If you stop him, then it's (Brady) Cook. I thought we did a really good job but they just have so many weapons."

Those weapons all came to show on Saturday. Lewis torched Madison for 24 points on 9-of-13 shooting and had eight rebounds while Cloud, who scored 35 in the two games on Friday, went for 13 points. Landon Kidwell dominated the paint, scoring 12 points.

Overall, Southwestern shot 59% (27-for-46) for the game, including 5-of-15 from 3-point range and 9-of-13 from the foul line. Madison, on the other hand, was just 31% from the floor and 6-of-24 from the 3-point line. The Cubs did hit 4-for-5 on free throws.

"(Madison) went to a 1-3-1 coming out halftime, just to throw a curveball at us, but we got the shot we wanted, we just missed three straight open ones. And that's gonna happen," Nussbaum said. "That's a credit to our boys. They just kept grinding defensively that's been our big thing all year. We've always been able to score, it's just can we lock in defensively. So far? We've done well with that."

Southwestern had four players named to the all-tournament team, Lewis, Cloud, Kidwell and Cook. But Nussbaum wanted to single out Taylor, who drew the defensive assignment on each team's best player in the tournament and held each to under their season averages.

"Every single kid that was named all-tournament deserved it, but Jackson Taylor deserved to as well because that kid was lights out on defense and hit some big shots as well," Nussbaum said. "It's hard to be on a team that is scoring a bunch and you're the one just chasing everybody around screens. But that kid locked in on defense. I'm super proud of the whole team but I definitely want to call him out."

Quincy Reynolds scored 10 points to lead Madison and was the only Cub player in double figures. Ryder Jones had nine points and both he and Reynolds were named to the all-tournament team.

Southwestern returns to action on Saturday when it hosts Floyd Central (2-6). Madison's next game is Friday, Jan. 5 when the Cubs travel to Class 3A No. 7 Scottsburg (8-3).

Southwestern's Jamison Lewis (33) goes up to block Madison's Oscar Gonzalez during the JCIT championship game on Saturday.

THIRD PLACE GAME

David Cook and Joshua Renfro combined to score 40 points and lift Class A No. 8 Christian Academy of Indiana to a 57-41 win over Trimble County in the third place game of the JCIT on Saturday evening.

Renfro scored 15 points in the first quarter as Christian Academy (9-1) built a 25-13 lead but the Warriors couldn't put Trimble away until late in the third quarter. A 7-0 run late in that frame staked Christian Academy to a 48-32 lead and the Warriors cruised from there.

Cook scored 21 points and had six rebounds while Renfro finished with 19 points, eight rebounds and six assists as both were named to the all-tournament team. Joshua Chancey added 10 points for the Warriors.

Ethan Horn scored a game-high 28 points on 8-of-18

Caswell balancing 3 full-time 'jobs'

BY COLEMAN SATER
SPECIAL TO THE MADISON COURIER

For the average college student, their work in the classroom is a great challenge. For student-athletes, athletics on top of academics is an even tougher responsibility.

Running a business while being a student-athlete seems nearly impossible to do. That is unless your name is Noah Caswell.

As a full-time Hanover College business student and defensive tackle on the football team, Caswell already has a full plate. On top of this, he became an entrepreneur in January of 2023 after creating his company Alpha Generation.

Caswell, a 2020 graduate of Madison, went to the University of Indianapolis for his freshman and sophomore years, and then transferred to Hanover as a junior.

From his time growing up in Madison, football has been one of his main passions. He has always dreamed of playing collegiate football and enjoys playing so close to the town where his dreams started.

While playing for the Panthers, Caswell always strives to be a leader within his position group.

"There are a lot of young people within my position group. I want to work as hard as I can to get myself where I want to be, while also showing others what hard work can get them," said Caswell.

The team has great chemistry together and has formed special bonds through their time on and off the field.

"Culture-wise, I think it's cool that everyone has each other's back, because we know we are a family," said Caswell.

The biggest thing football has taught Caswell is how to fight through adversity.

"Football teaches everyone that we are all going to make mistakes … when you fall down, someone will pick you up, and when they fall down, you pick them up," said Caswell.

Academically speaking, the cooperation, communication, and support, especially within the business program, has helped him more than anything.

Noah expressed that everyone at Hanover has been extremely supportive in the classroom. A few business professors even went above and beyond to support him with his business outside the classroom.

Noah acknowledged how thankful he was because they did not have to do this.

"A lot of people could have easily said, 'No, I am not trying to do that extra work,' but people here have been so supportive of my brand, and I enjoy that a lot. The people here are so eager to help in any way, shape, or form because they see that Alpha Generation is my passion," said Caswell.

Alpha Generation is mainly a videography company targeting gyms, fitness centers, schools, or any other place that could lead to an improvement in people's well-being.

"The brand is a platform where we use real-life testimonies, real-life situations, and real-life motivational advice to help people become mentally healthier," said Caswell.

Hanover College junior Noah Caswell (99), a Madison Consolidated High School graduate, has started his own company while balancing life as a full-time student and a college athlete.

Hanover College junior Noah Caswell (99) hard at work on homework. The Madison Consolidated High School graduate has started his own company while still a student and athlete at Hanover.

They will interview athletes, gym owners, personal trainers, and others to get their stories out to the public. These interviews will typically be pushed out via social media.

The brand also has health challenges for its customers, eBooks, and is soon coming out with a clothing line.

"The Alpha Generation brand was made to inspire and motivate other people to be involved in fitness and to be active within their day-to-day lives," said Caswell.

"Really what inspired me was that everyone has battles they face, and I personally have gone through a lot of battles. When I went through those battles, I realized I wanted to help other people and show them they are not alone and don't have to fight those battles by themselves," Caswell added.

He thinks that fitness can be a great stress reliever and is a great solution to the problems people are facing.

"I think fitness allows you to release emotion in a sense and is a great opportunity to release those negative emotions to put you in a better state of mind," said Caswell.

He also knows that it is never easy. Some days you will wake up and physical exercise will be the last thing you want to do.

Reeves scores 30; No. 9 UK blows out rival U of L 95-76

BY GARY B. GRAVES
ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOUISVILLE — Antonio Reeves scored 22 of his season-high 30 points in the first half, helping No. 9 Kentucky overcome a slow shooting start and cruise past rival Louisville 95-76 on Thursday night in the annual battle for Bluegrass bragging rights.

Kentucky (9-2) missed seven of its first 12 attempts, but stayed within a couple of possessions behind perimeter shooting keyed by Reeves, who made his first four shots from beyond the arc and nine of 10 in the first half.

The Wildcats took charge for good at 19-17 on Adou Theiro's 3-pointer and mounted several small runs behind 14-of-22 shooting to close the half and lead 53-33 on Reeves' 3 with six seconds remaining. Kentucky made 8 of 15 from long range and 19 of 35 (54%).

"I was hot, so when I got the ball I wasn't thinking, was just off reaction," said Reeves, who made nine consecutive shots in the half. "I just shot it and went in."

Reeves finished 10 of 15 from the field to top his previous best of 24 points against top-ranked Kansas on Nov. 14. Tre Mitchell added 18 points — including a 3 for an 86-61 lead with 5:29 left that sparked cheers from a mostly blue-clad crowd — and 12 rebounds as the Wildcats shot 51% to earn their third consecutive series win over the Cardinals, this time in front of an announced crowd of 17,293.

Justin Edwards had 13 points, with Rob Dillingham and Reed Sheppard adding 12 and 11 points, respectively. But veterans Reeves and Mitchell got it started, helping Kentucky seize momentum in a highly charged environment.

"It could be anybody's night, any given night," Mitchell added. "You don't know who it's going to be. It just so happened to be that it was us."

Skyy Clark had 20 points and Brandon Huntley-Hatfield added 16 points and 11 rebounds for Louisville (5-7), which looked to follow up Sunday's rout of Pepperdine by upsetting their archrival. Louisville shot 42% but edged Kentucky 43-42 in the second half and were outrebounded just 37-35.

"I talked to the guys about the first 10 minutes of the game, what it felt like how you had them on their heels a little bit," Cardinals coach Kenny Payne said, "and I talked about the next 10 minutes of the game and how we stopped sharing the ball. We didn't get back in transition, and the guy goes off for 22 points."

BIG Z UPDATE

Kentucky coach John Calipari said he granted permission for 7-footer Zvonimir Ivisic to go home to Croatia for the holiday break, but said nothing had changed in terms of his eligibility status under review by the NCAA.

"He's going to go home and be back before the Illinois State game (Dec. 29)," Calipari said. "Hopefully, we hear something."

BIG PICTURE

Kentucky played the pace it wanted and created good looks, and it was just a matter of how soon the shots start falling. Reeves had no such issues, and that set the tone for the Wildcats to follow suit and keep firing as they reached double digits from long range for the fifth time this season.

Louisville: The Cardinals started strong and competed for about 10 minutes, but couldn't sustain that intensity against a deeper, patient Kentucky squad. They certainly couldn't match their perimeter shooting, hitting just 4 of 17.

Edey scores 18 as No. 1 Purdue breezes past Jacksonville 100-57

BY MARK AMBROGI
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WEST LAFAYETTE — Zach Edey scored 18 points and No. 1 Purdue avoided a letdown, breezing past Jacksonville 100-57 on Thursday night.

Lance Jones had 16 points, Trey Kaufman-Renn scored 15 and Myles Colvin had 11 for the Boilermakers (11-1), who won their fourth straight — including last Saturday's win over then-No. 1 Arizona that allowed them to regain the top ranking.

"I'm proud of our guys to bounce back from emotional state and kind of keep a purpose," Purdue coach Matt Painter said. "Tonight I thought we did a good job of sticking to our job."

It was the final game for the Boilermakers before a weeklong holiday break.

"You know everybody's mind is on going home and spending time with their family and loved ones," Jones said. "Coach Painter stressed to practice to have the right mindset. It took us a little bit but once we got going and stayed locked in, we went ahead and finished it off."

Twelve players scored for Purdue. Seldom-used Will Berg, who was playing in just his fifth game this season, had eight points in the closing minutes Painter substituted liberally. The Boilermakers held a 43-16 edge in bench scoring.

Robert McCray V led the Dolphins (8-5) with 22 points. He came in as Jacksonville's leading scorer with a 16.5-point average.

The 7-foot-4 Edey had a team-high eight rebounds as Purdue finished with a 39-31 advantage.

Purdue shot 52% from the field while holding the Dolphins to 37%. Jacksonville committed 21 turnovers, 12 more than Purdue.

The Boilermakers led from the tip, but were ahead just 32-24 with 4:58 remaining in the first half. Purdue finished the half with a 13-3 run to take a 45-27 lead.

"I thought our guys played well in that stretch and executed," Painter said. "With five minutes left, we had nine turnovers and it stayed at nine."

Purdue started the second half with a 12-0 spurt, extending its advantage to 30 points.

"You know everybody's mind is on going home and spending time with their family and loved ones. Coach (Matt) Painter stressed to practice to have the right mindset. It took us a little bit but once we got going and stayed locked in, we went ahead and finished it off."

— Lance Jones

Kaufman-Renn said he had plenty of motivation against the visitors from the Atlantic Sun Conference.

"These are the type of teams we've lost to (in) March Madness, so I was just as motivated as playing Arizona," Kaufman-Renn said. "So I don't want that to happen again."

BIG PICTURE

Jacksonville: The Dolphins can build on the fact they were competitive for most of the first half.

Purdue: The Boilermakers won their 34th consecutive regular-season nonconference game, the longest in the nation.

POLL IMPLICATIONS

Purdue has been ranked in the top five for 23 straight weeks, the longest active streak. No. 2 Kansas is the next best at 12 weeks.

ADDED EXPERIENCE

Jones, a senior transfer from Southern Illinois, has been a key contributor, starting all 12 games.

"What I've learned the most is to just be a great teammate," Jones said. "Coach Painter says it's not going to be your night every night. So I just tried to stay ready. I've had a lot of experience in college basketball. I just want to be a leader."

Annual charity column shows ways to give

Dear Readers: As I offer my 20th annual year-end "charity roundup," I'd like to remind readers that while charity truly does begin at home, it need not stay there.

Those who can afford to share their material wealth should give abundantly, donating locally to the local library, after-school program, hospice center, arts organizations, historical society and animal shelter.

Shoveling a walk for a neighbor, writing a letter to an elder and volunteering at the local food bank are all ways to express your generosity.

All of the organizations I recommend have the highest rating by Charity Navigator, a trusted source. Always do your own research before donating and choose organizations that align with your own values.

AMY DICKINSON ASK AMY

SUPPLYING SHELTER

Habitat for Humanity: In 2023, Habitat for Humanity helped 13.4 million people build or improve a place to call home. You can honor the humanitarian generosity of President Jimmy Carter and the memory of first lady Rosalynn Carter by funding a project or volunteering in your community. (Habitat.org)

SUPPORTING EDUCATION

ScholarMatch: Author Dave Eggers founded this nonprofit in 2010 as a way to help first-generation college students from low-income backgrounds attend college. They provide scholarships and full support all the way through to graduation. (ScholarMatch.org)

Donors Choose: Prospective donors can choose a specific classroom project to fund — from donating art supplies and musical instruments to classroom tech and gym equipment. (Donorschoose.org)

American Indian College Fund: The mission is simple — to send Native American and Alaska Native students to college. Every year, around 4,000 scholarships are granted to motivated students. They also support accredited tribal colleges and universities. (Collegefund.org)

SERVING SERVICE MEMBERS

Travis Mills Foundation: Veterans and their families are brought to a retreat center in Maine for an adaptive, barrier-free opportunity to regroup, relax and connect with other veterans and their families. (Travismillsfoundation.org)

K-9s for Warriors: "Determined to end veteran suicide, K-9s for Warriors provides highly trained service dogs to military veterans suffering from PTSD, traumatic brain injury and/or military sexual trauma," the organization's website states. In a beautiful symmetry, service dogs are rescued from shelters, and then humans and dogs rescue each other. (K9sforwarriors.org)

Parents respond to a hotline call

Dear Amy: Six years ago, my two adult stepdaughters confronted us with their "concerns" that their mother and I knew that our 17-year-old son smoked marijuana.

We did know about his pot use and clearly explained the steps we were already undertaking in getting him the help he had recently requested. Our stepdaughters immediately alerted DCFS.

A conviction would have destroyed our professional careers and seriously damaged our family's future.

Agonizing months later, our case was dismissed, and the charges were characterized as unfounded. This betrayal led to familial estrangement from the stepdaughters. Our now 23-year-old son is doing well, and my wife understandably wants her offspring back in our lives.

I have encouraged my wife to pursue reconciliation. I do not share this interest. (Independently, neither does our son.)

My wife is pressuring me to partake in the perilous voyage of reconciling with her daughters. I would prefer being keelhauled.

Please share your reflections on this possible mission impossible.

— Dismayed

AMY DICKINSON ASK AMY

Dear Dismayed: Alerting DCFS set in motion a very serious set of circumstances for your family. From your narrative, this choice to "hotline" you seems extremely overblown; I wonder what else your stepdaughters might have seen or perceived that doesn't fit into your narrative, and if your son was taking risks that are genuinely more alarming than that of a teenager smoking pot. The only way to find out about their motivations and to describe the impact on you and your family is to communicate with these women.

People do sometimes issue false reports to DCFS in order to punish family members; this is a very serious issue in that it breaks apart families and also absorbs time and resources that would better be used to investigate actual situations that involve at-risk children.

I hope that in this case your adult stepdaughters were overreacting and naïve about the impact of their choice.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Trust that your charitable acts do some good. The extra dollar in your pocket could bring some help to someone in need. Passing along a gift that might not have been the best fit for you can mean a great deal to someone.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — You may not need a mirror on the wall to know when someone finds themselves irresistibly attracted to you. An intimate setting could provide you with an outlet for your enthusiastic side.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — You can seek some sound advice from a trusted relative. Beneficial relationships could be forged with those who share your values. You might not want to return to work if your heart is still stuck in holiday mode.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — It's one thing to politely stand up to boundary-crashers, another to make an impulsive display of your temper, which could boomerang and make things tense. Practice tolerance whenever possible.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — It's easy to extend an experience filled with warm feelings. Someone might persuade you to participate in some old-fashioned traditions. Do your best to find time to share an enjoyable experience with a loved one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Now could be a wonderful time to make some plans for a fun getaway with family or friends or to plan out some home improvements. You can find ways to prolong togetherness by outlining some future adventures.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — A frantic rush to be the first one in line could try your patience. Now may be the time to evaluate your resilience and weigh the compensating factors. A small effort now might help save you time and money later on.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — You may need to give more if you wish to receive. Whether you freely shower your affections on a loved one or donate your time to a charity, your generous spirit can be repaid. Let the Universe decide on your reward.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Your trust should be returned. If you've wondered why you have not heard from someone or were seemingly forgotten, an unexpected answer might arrive, make your day special, and put your mind at ease.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Think things through before making decisions that could impact your future. Gather as much information as possible from a wide range of sources, the better you are informed the more likely you are to be successful.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Getting back into the regular schedule and proceeding with business as usual could be your top priority right now. Clean-up might be at the top of your to-do list to prepare for new guests or tidy up after the last batch.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — This is the time of year when you can indulge in tasty sweets or leftover comfort foods.. Holiday goodies lingering in the kitchen could bring a large smile to your face when you dig in to finish them off.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Use thoughtfulness and understanding if someone you love is weighed down by responsibility. You could win points by making life a little easier for someone else; lend a helping hand or offer a balanced perspective.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Be wise and do your best not to take sides. Neutrality is often the best stance when faced with tensions among others. Even serious tasks can be fun if you have a group of friends to complete them with.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Even the most serious subjects may not be able to dampen your high spirits. Kindness or consideration can help set a good example. Use gentle firmness and thoughtfulness to offset worries or concerns.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — It might be wise to rethink agreements or adjust your ideas to align better with others. In your hurry to get somewhere faster and manage your extra errands, you might leave something important behind.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — The glow of affection surrounding someone close could light up a room. Fond memories filled with happiness may help compensate for a brief business delay or a minor communication mix-up.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Let someone else prove their bonafides. You could mend some fences and put things right under the atmosphere of good cheer. Do your best to make sure your bills are paid and your budget is up to date.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Sometimes the best solution for a problem needs more time to appear. Put a decision on the back burner for now and come back to it later. Do your best to follow through on your obligations in a responsible way.

JCIT POOL A: Madison sweeps pool play to set up championship showdown with Southwestern

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Madison dispatched crosstown rival Shawe with ease, 72-49, then pulled away late to defeat Trimble County, 66-35, and win Pool A of the 77th annual Jefferson County Invitational Tournament at Madison on Friday.

The wins set up a championship game showdown with arch rival Southwestern, which won both of its games in Pool B in convincing fashion.

Madison scored the first 12 points of the game in its matchup with Shawe and rolled to a 72-49 win in the first game of Pool A.

Shawe actually regrouped from that early shot by the Cubs by going on an 8-2 run of its own to pull within six points but got no closer. Madison led 21-8 after the first quarter and 34-22 at halftime before blowing open the game with a 24-point third quarter.

Madison shot an impressive 51% (24-for-55) from the floor and hit 11 3-pointers while holding Shawe to 4-of-12 from 3-point range and 44% overall. Neither team took very good care of the ball with Shawe committing 18 turnovers and Madison 15.

Ryder Jones had a double-double of 18 points and 11 rebounds while Gabe Fife came off the bench to score a career-high 17 points for Madison. Quincy Reynolds added 14 points for the Cubs.

Braiden Smith had a huge game for Shawe with 25 points and 11 rebounds. Philip Kahn scored 15 points for the Hilltoppers.

Madison (3-4) got off to a great start in the nightcap against Trimble County, leading 15-4 after the first quarter and 19-9 early in the second. But the Raiders regrouped enough to pull within four points before back-to-back 3-pointers by the Cubs late staked them to a 26-17 lead at the break.

David Campbell

Madison's Oscar Gonzalez (23) draws a charge on Trimble County's Ethan Horn during Pool A play in the JCIT on Friday.

Madison took care of business in the third quarter, outscoring the Raiders 20-10 to push the advantage to 19 points after three quarters and never looked back.

"We already played one game so it was not as huge of a crowd but I thought we came out good. Trimble kind of hit back," Madison coach Adam Stotts said. "The second half was going to tell us what type of team we have and we came out and opened it up to 30-35 points. So I'm really proud of the guys. That is what I like to call Madison basketball. That's what I've been begging our guys to do, to play like a dog. Our guys have been preaching that way all week and they came out and did it. I'm excited."

Junior Oscar Gonzalez, an exchange student from Spain, had his best game since coming to the United States, scoring 17 points while Reynolds scored 15 points.

Trimble senior Ethan Horn, who entered the game averaging 25 points per contest, was held to 16 points but no other Raider scored more than six.

"I think a lot of those points (for Horn) were late and give him credit for keeping going," Stotts said. "But I thought that zone we played was how we run it in practice. Today we played suffocating ball pressure. That's our basketball."

The final game of Pool A play on Saturday morning saw Shawe and Trimble County battle for three quarters before Trimble blew open the game in the fourth and pulled away for the 73-61 win.

Trimble (3-7) led 18-14 after the first quarter but the game was tied at 32-32 at halftime and 46-46 after three quarters.

The Raiders erupted in the fourth, scoring 25 points and leading by as many as 19 before a late Shawe rally accounted for the final margin.

Ethan Keller hit seven 3-pointers and scored a career-high 25 points to lead Trimble while Horn had 19 points. Coltin Humphreys and former Shawe Hilltopper Charlie Liter added nine points each.

Smith had his second-straight big game, scoring 27 points to lead Shawe (4-5) and Kahn added 18.

JCIT POOL B: Southwestern rolls to wins over Christian Academy, Carroll to reach finals

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Class 2A No. 5 Southwestern came into the Jefferson County Invitational Tournament as the clear favorite and did nothing to dispel that notion with a pair of lopsided wins to blitz Pool B on Friday at Madison's Connor K. Salm Gymnasium.

The Rebels (9-0) opened the tournament with a dominating 72-40 win over Class A No. 8 Christian Academy of Indiana then fended off a pesky Carroll County squad with a strong second half to win 66-48 in the nightcap.

"It's definitely physically and mentally challenging to come back out after playing a ranked team like that first game and getting them ready for the second game, but I was proud of our boys," Southwestern coach Zac Nussbaum said. "We had about a four-minute span (against Carroll) where it got kind of sloppy and we weren't playing our style of basketball, but we called timeout, refocused them and they were great after that."

The opening game of the tournament was anticipated to be a showdown between ranked unbeaten teams, but Southwestern turned the matchup quickly into a rout.

Southwestern jumped out to an early 6-0 lead and after a brief lull, turned on the jets and never looked back. The Rebels led 18-6 after the first quarter and 29-17 at halftime, but blew open the game with a 27-12 third quarter to turn the game into a rout.

Southwestern shot nearly 60% from the floor overall, hitting 28-for-48 but it was beyond the 3-point arc where the Rebels did the most damage. Led by senior Peyton Cloud, who was 5-for-8 from long range, Southwestern made 11-of-21 treys with five different players collecting a triple. The Rebels also dominated the boards, out-rebounding Christian Academy 30-16.

Cloud scored 19 points and had nine rebounds to lead the Rebels. Brady Cook had 13 points while Jamison Lewis and Landon Kidwell each scored 10 and Lewis also had eight rebounds.

Christian Academy struggled against Southwestern's aggressive defense, going just 16-for-41 (39%) overall and 5-of-12 from the 3-point line. High-scoring guard Joshua Renfro scored 16 points but no other Warrior was in double-figures.

After its dominating win over Christian Academy, nobody believed that Southwestern would face much trouble against Carroll County, but the Panthers proved to be a difficult out. At least for a half.

Southwestern led 20-8 after the first quarter but Carroll played nearly even in the second quarter and trailed only 33-19 at the break. The Rebels came out hot in the third and eventually led by 26 points (48-22) before cruising to the win.

Southwestern kept its hot shooting going, connecting on 26-for-48 (54%) for the game, but just 4-of-12 on 3-point attempts. But the Rebels were also 10-of-11 from the free-throw line and dominated the boards 35-18.

Cloud once again led Southwestern in scoring, getting 16 points while dishing out four assists. Lewis also had 16 points and Kidwell had a double-double of 10 points and 12 rebounds.

"He's a bucket, as the kids like to say, but he has no problem filling it up," Nussbaum said of Cloud. "What I liked today from him was he was a little more focused on the defense and rebounding and his leadership keeps getting a little bit better each game."

David Campbell

Southwestern's Jamison Lewis (33) powers his way to the basket over three Christian Academy Warriors in the Rebels' win on Friday.

Cooper Gutman came off the bench to score 15 points to lead Carroll, which shot just 39% overall but 50% (8-of-16) from the arc. Cameron Butcher and Landon Groves scored 10 points each for the Panthers.

In the final game of Pool B, Christian Academy defeated Carroll County 74-56.

The Warriors (8-1) started the game hot and led 23-10 after the first quarter. Carroll recovered and pulled within six (31-25) by halftime but could never get over the hump as Christian Academy put the game away.

David Cook went 12-for-12 from the free-throw line and scored 23 points to lead Christian Academy. Renfro had 21 points and Josh Chaney scored 20.

Landon Groves scored 24 points to lead Carroll (3-6). Grayson Kinman had 11 and Braden Stephenson 10.

VICTORY

shooting to lead Trimble County (3-8) but no other Raider approached double-figures. Dylan Penick had six points and Ethan Keller, who joined Horn on the all-tournament team, had five points.

Trimble County plays in the Chain Rock Classic at Pineville starting on Thursday. The Raiders play the host school in the opener.

FIFTH PLACE GAME

Despite playing its second game in a row, Shawe dug deep and pulled out a 55-52 win over Carroll County to take fifth place in the JCIT.

The Hilltoppers had run out of gas in a 73-61 loss to Trimble County earlier in the day and after just a 30-minute break, were back on the floor against Carroll.

The game was tight throughout with Carroll's 14-6 lead in the first quarter the largest by either team. There were a total of 13 lead changes in the game with Carroll leading 17-12 after the first quarter and 30-27 at the half. But Shawe led 38-37 heading into the fourth.

After trading the lead four times in the final five minutes, Shawe went ahead 53-52 on a Braiden Smith 3-pointer with just over a minute to play. Philip Kahn hit two free throws with five seconds to go to put the Hilltoppers up three, then deflected a pass and got the steal to ice the win.

Smith capped a monster three games with 18 points and seven rebounds and was named to the all-tournament team. Kahn had 20 points and four assists for the Hilltoppers and Tyler Hill chipped in four.

Seth Franklin scored 11 points and Braden Stephenson had 10 for Carroll County (3-7). After two strong games in pool play, Landon Groves was held to eight points and four rebounds against Shawe but was named to the all-tournament team.

Shawe returns to action on Friday when it hosts Cannelton (1-5). Carroll County hosts Ludlow (4-5) on Saturday.

JOBS

face can sometimes be extremely difficult to deal with. Just like he and his football team have experienced, fighting through adversity is one of the most challenging things to succeed in.

"I want Alpha Generation to help people rise above adversity or any change in their life and help them learn from it as much as possible," said Caswell.

And he wants people to know that for every story he can share, someone has gone through or is currently going through something similar.

"One of the biggest things is that this business is not just a solo act specifically for me, but it is for others to get involved in a group for support," said Caswell.

Once one person is healed, they can find other people to bring into the brand. Caswell's goal is to have this ripple effect where — yes, his brand expands — but at the same time, large amounts of people are healed.

Somehow, Caswell has managed to succeed in successfully getting this business started while playing college football and majoring in business.

"It has been really difficult to try and manage the three aspects. I think time management is the biggest issue for me and what I am still learning," Caswell said.

"As much as I want to work on this business now, and sports too, I also have to do school and keep my grades up. I have to perform in all three aspects which is extremely challenging but at the same time I have such a love for my vision and with that love comes motivation," continued Caswell.

Looking into the future and thinking about how many people he can benefit in the long run is what keeps Caswell going when his own lifestyle overwhelms him.

"My love and passion for what I do is what I fall back on during my struggles. I keep thinking this will not only benefit me, but many others in the long run," said Caswell.

When he graduates next year from Hanover, Caswell has big aspirations for himself and Alpha Generation.

He wants to continue playing football after college and eventually open up a gym. The gym will work hand-in-hand with Alpha Generation which is eventually what he wants to pursue full-time.

Caswell knows that achieving these goals will not be easy and will be a process. He is ready to keep putting his head down and grinding towards his future goals.

with a win and a loss last week.

On Friday, Trimble lost 49-30 to George Wythe (Va.). Edmondson scored 10 points while Jolie Wilcoxson and Crawford scored six points each.

Trimble County will next play in the Pam Browning Classic at Carroll County beginning on Wednesday. The Raiders will get Rowan County in the opening round.

CARROLL LOSES 3 IN TENNESSEE

Carroll County suffered three losses at the Smoky Mountain Christmas Classic in Gatlinburg last week.

The Panthers lost a tight 59-57 decision to Middlesboro (Ky.) on Wednesday and fell 55-44 to Cascade (Tenn.) on Thursday. Carroll closed out the tourney with a 54-51 loss to Dayton (Ky.) on Friday.

Carroll, now 1-7 on the season, hosts the Pam Browning Classic starting on Wednesday. The Panthers face Holmes in the opening round.

Browning's charmed run ends in 3-pick loss to Steelers

BY WILL GRAVES
ASSOCIATED PRESS

PITTSBURGH — Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Jake Browning scrambled to his right with two Pittsburgh Steelers defenders closing in during the first quarter on Saturday and thought he did what he's done so often of late while filling in for Joe Burrow: make the smart play.

One problem. Well, two problems.

The first was that the pass he meant to throw out of the back of the end zone barely made it across the goal line. The second was that it ended up in the hands of Pittsburgh safety Patrick Peterson, who grabbed it to swing momentum to the Steelers in what became a 34-11 loss that dealt a blow to Cincinnati's postseason hopes.

"I didn't even know it was picked," Browning said. "So stupid."

More miscues were on the way.

Browning threw for 335 yards, including an 80-yard TD pass to Tee Higgins, but also tossed three interceptions that Pittsburgh turned into points as the Bengals (8-7) saw their three-game winning streak end.

"I've got to find a way to turn those plays into incompletions or check-downs or something to give us a chance," Browning said after falling to 3-2 in place of Burrow, who is out for the season after having surgery to repair a torn ligament in his right wrist.

In what has become the year of the backup quarterback, Browning has authored one of the more unlikely success stories. He'd spent four years on the practice squads with Minnesota and Cincinnati before earning the No. 2 job behind Burrow in training camp.

Burrow's injury thrust the 27-year-old into the lineup for the first time in games that mattered since his senior year at Washington in 2018. Browning struggled in his initial start against the Steelers on Nov. 26 before helping the Bengals to three straight wins that kept them in the playoff picture.

> "I've got to find a way to turn those plays into incompletions or check-downs or something to give us a chance."
> — Jake Browning
> Cincinnati quarterback

The picture is far blurrier after Browning was fooled by a Pittsburgh defense missing its three safeties and having an inside linebacker rotation filled with guys who weren't on the roster two months ago. Browning threw his second interception in the second quarter, when backside pressure by outside linebacker Alex Highsmith caused a slight underthrow that safety Eric Rowe — filling in for Minkah Fitzpatrick — grabbed and returned to the Cincinnati 14.

Four plays later, the Steelers were up 21-0. The Bengals never got closer than 16 the rest of the way to get swept by Pittsburgh for the first time since 2019.

"I knew that this was not going to be some situation where we roll in here, we're been playing well, they've had some losses, it didn't matter," Browning said.

No, it didn't. Cincinnati's defense had trouble containing Steelers third-string quarterback Mason Rudolph and wide receiver George Pickens, who connected on a pair of long touchdowns as the Steelers built a 24-point lead and coasted.

"This is a humbling league," Bengals head coach Zac Taylor said. "This is a humbling day."

Cincinnati finishes the season by visiting Kansas City on New Year's Eve before hosting Cleveland. The Bengals began the season with a dismal 24-3 loss to the Browns, the start of an uneven year that began with Super Bowl expectations that have failed to materialize for various reasons.

There is still time to get it together, but not much.

"We know what the narrative will be going forward," Taylor said. "So we'll just own up to it, be accountable to it."

Browning will have to find a way to bounce back while opposing Patrick Mahomes. He's relied on his resilience to stay in the NFL. He'll need to lean into it going forward if the two-time defending AFC North champions want to avoid finishing in the basement of the league's toughest division.

"There's a lot of quarterbacks that have bad games, I obviously had a bad game," he said. "So now it's a little bit of, 'How do you respond?' And so that's kind of where I'm at and that's where we're at as a team."
